Our Chapel is Holy Ground

Our Chapel hosts our worship and scripture study every weekday. I'm not sure whether we have garnered a host of singers this year or whether the Spirit's encouragement creates a situation where one's spine tingles during Chapel.

We stand and sing "In Christ Alone." While singing the lines of the third verse "Then bursting forth in glorious day / Up from the grave He rose again / and as He stands in victory / Sin's curse has lost its grip on me" – our Chapel floor literally reverberates. The freedom our LCBI students experience is In Christ Alone!

Discipleship & Leadership

We have a Discipleship & Leadership program at LCBI. Just like we did years ago, we divide our student body into four houses. What were formerly Venus, Jupiter, Mars and Saturn houses are now Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. In each of these house are five teams: Academic, Faith & Life, Health & Wellness, Community Service and Arts & Drama. Each student can choose which team they are on, but they must be on a team. Standing outside looking in is not an option at LCBI.

As an example of how the above works, the Faith & Life teams are responsible for Friday devotions and organizing Faith & Life events at the school. The Community Service teams help organize our 'Take Out Tuesdays' where the students and staff serve at various loca-

Objective Assessment

Anxiety and depression are a focal point in education for this generation. Amidst the myriad of information, it behooves us to know what is true or false, what is necessary, what we should be interested in. Noise clutters!

To measure our progress in this regard, we submit to a student-completed survey (OurSchool) that is conducted nationwide. We can compare LCBI to a national standard. Of note is that we receive students with high anxiety, largely in Grades 9 and 10. By the time a second- or third-year student reaches Grade 12, LCBI students are at half the anxiety of the national value. Where Christ's spirit is present, grace is present, and peace is present.

The dedication of our faculty and staff remains outstanding. They tithe to the school, putting in hours that make their roles nearly 24/7. The concern for each student's well-being is paramount. Faculty and staff are here for the students. LCBI students experience worship, friendship and community. Combined with Mattea's own very hard work, this community effort is also the reason that her success (cover story) comes through LCBI.

Letter-Writing Campaign

As of this writing, the five Historical Schools of Saskatchewan (Athol Murray, Rosthern Junior, Luther, Briercrest Academy, and LCBI) have completed a submittal to the Ministry of Education. The submittal features a request to move our funding from the current 70% of the public school support amount to 80%.

We have had several meetings with MLAs and one productive meeting directly with the Minister of Education (Hon. Gordon Wyant). We need prayers, phone calls and letters. To be clear: prayers to our Father in Heaven, phone calls and letters to MLAs (not the other way around). If you feel so moved, I would be happy to email a draft letter for your signature that can be sent to your MLA.

Our Motto Stands Strong

One hundred and nine years ago, our founders claimed the motto, We Would See Jesus. This motto stands strong; scripture remains the prominent text book guide. Our Discipleship program challenges our students to become servant leaders, giving faithfully in accordance with their God-given gifts. Pray for LCBI that we may continue to lift Jesus that We Would See.

Academics

by Andrea Klassen, Principal

The 2019–2020 school year has been going really well so far. Opening Day was on September 2nd, and the last few months have flown by as we have settled into a busy routine of academics, athletics, arts, and much more.

We started the year with 79 students; 25 of those students live in the dorm, and 54 are day students. We have seen an increase in our Grade 9 program again this year, and our international/out-of-province numbers have increased as well.

In the fall, we were busy with academics, but also with athletics (including football, volleyball, soccer, golf and cross country), arts (including the main choir, chamber choir, an all-male choir, and an all-female choir), and our house groups (which participate in activities including banquets, community service, chapels, and intramurals).

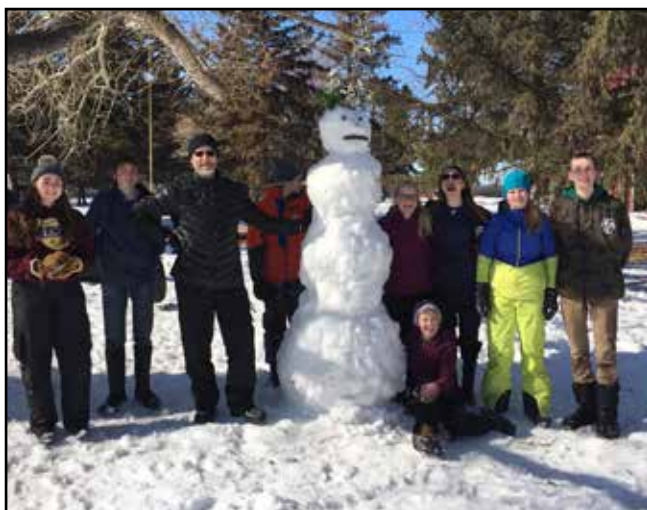

As we moved into the winter months, we were excited to cheer on our basketball and curling teams, attend choir concerts, and start rehearsals for the house plays. Before we know it, spring will be here, and we will be busy with track and field, badminton, graduation preparations and the spring musical.

There have been some new additions to the LCBI team this year: Kari Alford joined as the Dean of Campus Life; Olivia Wight joined the Campus Life team; Monica Jordan joined the Kitchen Staff; and Trina Fraser is our new Custodian.

We have enjoyed seeing our students grow, both individually and as a school community. There have been many successes to celebrate already this year: we have seen students improve and succeed in their academics and athletics. They have stepped out of their comfort zones and tried a new sport or extra-curricular activity. They have accepted leadership roles and been good role models for their peers. They have grown in their faith and acted as servant-leaders.

We are so thankful for our alumni and we are grateful for your continued prayers, presence and financial support. As I look ahead to 2020, I am excited about what the rest of this school year will bring!

Campus Life

by Kari Alford, Dean of Campus Life

Campus Life is Buzzing! Campus life is a very important aspect of the LCBI experience. We are working toward providing a rich, engaging, safe and supportive life for students here on campus and encouraging health, friendships, skill development, creativity and just plain fun!

We have had so much fun this year. In the fall, students were given the opportunity to participate in many great and creative activities on and off campus. We started the year with an amazing Alpine Trip to Banff and Lake Louise. Parent volunteers and Campus Life Staff came together to offer awesome weekend events such as a travelling supper, music jamming sessions, pet therapy, pie-making (photo, bottom right) and wood-carving, a high society tea party, and Christmas baking and crafts.

We have had regular movie and games nights. We attended events such as a pottery workshop, the Rend Collective concert in Saskatoon, and a great Teen Conference at Prairie College in Three Hills, AB. Students have initiated their own events such as class parties, and they have started a ping pong club (see p. 13). There is always something to do and to look forward to!

This year we are continuing the tradition of LIFT groups. LIFT stands for Living In Family Together and we are all part of a family of two or three staff and about 10 students. We meet regularly for LIFT Lunches in the cafeteria, meeting times on campus and once in a while go out as a family for an event off site. The goal is to create a sense of belonging, encourage closer relationships with a different group of people and give students a couple of adults that they can begin to see as someone they trust and are comfortable with.

In the new year, we have been focusing on health and wellness and working toward finding ways to encourage more physical activity. We have been encouraging improved sleep habits and nutritional choices and working with students to understand and achieve a healthy balance with technology, considering the hours we spend on devices and the implications of that.

And we started a couple of additional programs to support the spiritual development of our students and their families. Dig Deep is an evening Bible Study lead by local pastors for students ready to really dig into God's word. We kicked that off in January with a study of 1 Peter. And in late January we began offering the ALPHA program for students, families and friends who just want to look at the basics of the Christian faith and wrestle with life's big questions together.

We want to say a huge thank you to all of the volunteers, parents and staff who are helping to make life on campus so dynamic, and to all our amazing students, who are diving in with their whole hearts. Life at LCBI is buzzing! And it is GOOD!!

Life After LCBI: Mattea in Scotland

by Mattea Heck, Class of 2016

Hello everyone. My name is Mattea Heck, and I graduated from LCBI in 2016. I was given the privilege by LCBI to tell a bit of my story and how I earned a place to study Medicine at the University of St. Andrews in Scotland.

I can't pinpoint an exact moment that led me to decide to study medicine in the United Kingdom. There were a multitude of factors that influenced me: support from my family and teachers, friends who encouraged me, a bunch of hard work and never being told "you can't do that; that's outrageous!"

LCBI was a safe and encouraging environment that let me excel, and to this day I am the only Saskatchewan resident ever to be accepted into this program.

The process of getting here was interesting. I wrote my clinical entrance exam the summer before I started Grade 12 at LCBI. Throughout Grade 12, I worked hard with my teachers to attain exceptional grades, write a personal statement, and obtain reference letters. All that hard work paid off, and I received an interview and then a spot to study medicine in the "Scottish-Canadian Medical Programme."

I will never forget one of the interview tasks, which was to help an elderly lady interpret the bus schedule to make it to an appointment and back.

Being from rural Saskatchewan (I grew up in Sceptre), I had never taken a bus, and I had definitely not read a transit schedule. I remember thinking “Stay calm.” I immediately said that I had never taken public transport before, but by the end of the five minutes, everything was sorted. Right after the station, I thought I had blown it. Now, looking back, I know they were testing one of modern medicine’s key principles: never promise things you don’t know, and always tell people if you don’t know what you are doing. A principle that was taught both in LCBI and in my home is that honesty and integrity will take you further than faking it.

Now to fast forward to where I am now: I am in my fourth year of this six-year program. The program I am in is a double-degree program; I am earning a Bachelor of Science (Honours) and a Medicinae Baccalaureus Baccalaureus Chirurgiae (MbCHb). I earned my BSc (Hons) this past summer after writing my dissertation titled “How does diabetes in pregnancy affect maternal and infant outcomes in North American Aboriginal People?” I am now into my clinical years, and I have found I absolutely love being with patients every day. The patients motivate me to keep doing all the extra studying and to continue to keep up with my studies of Scots as a “second language.”

I plan to move back to Canada to practice medicine in 2022. There are three particular areas that I have developed a passion for: maternal, child and rural health. I hope to pick a specialty in one of these areas. Reflecting back on these past few years is always very humbling, and it makes me very excited for what the future will bring my way after such an incredible 21 years so far.

ATHLETICS

The Best Classroom in the World

by Leah Adelman, Athletic Director

The fall was been a busy season for our Athletes at LCBI. We are one of a few rural schools in Saskatchewan that can field teams for every single fall sport. Our boys were busy with football, soccer, volleyball, golf and cross country, while our girls participated in soccer, volleyball, golf and cross country as well.

Not only did we field teams in every sport, but a few of our teams had exceptional seasons. We advanced several runners to Cross Country Provincials where they all represented LCBI High School with grace and dignity. As well as, the girls volleyball (photo below) took a run at Provincials in Foam Lake, where they narrowly missed a medal.

Now with snow on the ground, everyone looks forward to basketball season on campus. The boys team has been coached by Bryan Balaton, Ricki Lockhart and Cliff Adelman, who have a young squad eager to learn. The girls team is coached by me; I have a strong core returning from last year and look forward to taking another step forward with the girls program.

Sports at LCBI has and will continue to be about growing our athletes into better leaders and people both on the court and in their other communities. The banners on our walls, though they represent our historic achievements, become secondary to the people we are creating in our gym.

The gym is the best classroom in the world. It allows our athletes to experience the joys of victory, tears of defeat, the value of hard work, all while in a safe environment. This allows our athletes to build character and create values and grow into stronger individuals, firm in their beliefs. LCBI Athletics are our avenue to use our God-given gifts to bring glory to God and demonstrate our school motto "We Would See Jesus" throughout our province during our season travels.

LCBI's production of The Lion King Jr. last June (photos right and below) was amazing. It was particularly fun for those of us who watched the Disney cartoon version over and over again as children. Our 2020 musical will be Disney's Newsies: The Musical, June 11-14. Don't miss it!

Alumni: Homecoming

Almost 200 people were registered for Homecoming this past October. The organizing committee was particularly pleased by the high number of attendees who had pre-registered — that makes planning so much easier.

We were delighted to have a concert of gospel music from “Take Five” as people arrived throughout the evening for registration. Two of this group, Doris (Vollmer) Stamnes and Gladys (Tysseland) Ector were classmates at LCBI 60 years ago!

Catch Up 2019/2020

It had been a couple of years since we did the first round of Catch Up Alumni events (Sherwood Park, Brooks, Medicine Hat, Calgary, Saskatoon). Those were so much fun, that LCBI organized a few more of them in Saskatchewan this past winter.

In November, we went to Christ Lutheran Church (Regina) and Good Shepherd

Lutheran Church (Moose Jaw). Rock of Ages Lutheran Church hosted us for the Saskatoon gathering on December 8. Finally, March 8 took us to Messiah Lutheran Church in Prince Albert.

Thank you so much to all the alumni and friends who came out and helped us to “Catch Up with LCBI”!

Go-Team Student Story

by Natalie Rude

At the Saskatoon Catch-Up event, a Go-Team sang and shared with us their experiences at LCBI. Here is one of those stories.

Hi everyone! My name is Natalie, and I'm in Grade 11 at LCBI. My family is from Calgary, so I'm a dorm student, which means I live on campus. This is my first year at LCBI, but I've known about the school for a long time. Much of my family has attended LCBI, and it was their first-hand experiences that convinced me to come to the school. I am so happy to say that LCBI did not fail to meet any of my expectations.

Adventures in Athletics

There are so many great opportunities at LCBI. One of those opportunities is athletics.

Before coming to LCBI, the only sport I had ever done was cross-country (if you even consider it a sport). This year I decided to join the soccer team. Joining the team made me realize I have a real passion for soccer. LCBI gives students the opportunity to join new sports and discover what kinds of sports they really enjoy playing.

The difference between LCBI and other schools is that sports are not exclusive at LCBI. In other words, you don't have to be good at a sport or to have done it in the past to be able to join the team. Our sports teams are made of people with different skill levels. Many of our teams started out with a group of people who were relatively new to the sport. But by the time that same group reached Grade 12, they were competing at the provincial level.

Here's what one of my friends had to say about her experience on the volleyball team, which won 1st at regionals and placed 4th at provincials: "My experience with sports so far this semester has been incredibly different from past seasons. The girls volleyball team is so dedicated and committed to their coaches and teammates. The girls work so hard. Not only are they your volleyball team on the court, but they're your family for life."

I think this sums up nicely what it is like to be on an LCBI team. People encourage you no matter what.

Swept Away by the Cheering

Another great thing about LCBI is our enthusiasm. Regardless of whether you're on the team or not, there are great ways to get involved in sports. There are almost always volunteer opportunities at games or tournaments. I personally love doing chain gang for football games because you get a front row seat for the game.

You can also come and cheer the teams on. Want to know how to can tell where the LCBI students are at a game? Well, we are usually the loudest. Having people on the sidelines cheering teams on while they play makes such a great difference. Even if you aren't one to start up a cheer, you'll get swept away by everyone else's cheering. I take so much pride in how supportive students are at LCBI.

A Fun Story

Before I wrap up, here's a little story I want to share with you.

One of my favourite hobbies is playing ping-pong. Since moving into the dorm, I hadn't had a chance to play. Hoping to find someone to play with, I put a poster up in the school that read, "Ping-Pong Team Sign-Up." Initially, it had started out as a joke. But you know what? By the end of the day, I had close to twenty people sign-up for my ping-pong team. We made a group chat and now people are getting together multiple times a week to play together and to coach each other. There's even been some talk of ordering team headbands!

This is why I love LCBI; everyone is so enthusiastic. I think most people joined the team not because they were passionate for ping-pong, but because they understood that to have fun you need to get involved. This is what LCBI teaches its students. It's all about your attitude. So come to LCBI to work hard, have fun, and make life-long friends.

GRADUATION 2019

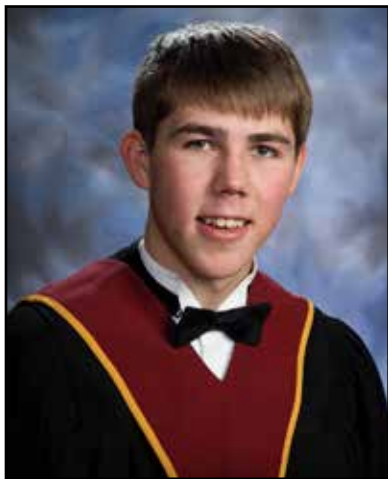

Valedictory Address

by Leif Haugen

Good afternoon everyone and Happy Mother's Day! On behalf of the grad class, thank you, friends and family, for coming out to help celebrate this special time in our lives. Thank you for all the love and support you've blessed us with and the role you all had in shaping us into the young men and women we are today.

Thanks to the staff

First off I would like to thank and acknowledge the teachers, dorm parents and all staff. You have been with our class for the past three years. You have answered endless questions and put up with numerous jokes and lollygagging. You have sacrificed your time not only to help us succeed academically but also to be our coaches and to help the school's community thrive.

You have challenged and encouraged us in our Christian faith and shared with us God's love.

Thank you for being our mentors, giving us guidance and being servant-hearted Christ-like examples for us students to follow. We can never thank you enough for all the devotion and heart you have poured into your jobs, us and this school.

So this is it: graduation. The day us graduates have been working towards for more than twelve years. For more than a decade now we have been filling our heads with knowledge on a variety of subjects. We went from cute toddlers learning their ABC's to antsy preteens struggling to complete history assignments.

Then in the past 3 years for various reasons and each by our own path we have all come to be here at LCBI. Here the classes were good and the teachers' expectations high. Whether it be solving derivatives in calculus, dissecting hearts in health science or writing deep meaningful English papers for Mr. D, we were always doing and learning something new.

A Place of People

However, it did not take long for us to learn LCBI is so much more than just academics. LCBI is a place of people. A place where everyone can belong. Realizing this, we got involved. As teammates, we fought towards Hoopla in basketball and Provincials in volleyball. We planned spirit days and school events as we took up roles on the SRC and in our house groups. As choir members, we sang concerts across Saskatchewan and Alberta.

And over time spent together, we began to trust and depend on one another and eventually we came to view each other not only as friends, but as a family. Through our time here I think it is fair to say we have each learned what it means to be a friend and what it means to have great friends. We have learned what it means to be part of something bigger than ourselves to be part of an awesome, accepting, but not perfect community; a family.

The Next Stage

So now just as we are starting to get used to the beautiful but strange environment LCBI is, as all good things do, our time here is coming to an end. So now we move onto the next stage in our lives; university for some, work for others or whatever else it might be.

But as we go, we leave not only with the important lessons we learned in classes like knowing the quadratic equation in math, the cell theory from Bio or remembering not to use too many “verys” or “thats” in our sentences (sorry, Mr. D, I might have a very hard time remembering that). But we leave with memories, values, and friends which will last a lifetime.

It’s not just by chance that so many of us have come to find friendship, acceptance and a loving community here at LCBI. This school was started over 100 years ago by people who had Christian education and values in mind. These values have continued through the generations and play an integral part in making LCBI the wonderful and special place it is.

God is at Work!

God has been at work in and through this school impacting the lives of others and impacting the lives of us. And as we move on in our lives I believe God will continue to work through us and support us wherever we go. God has a plan for us and will always be there for us. As our grad verse says: “If I ride on the wings of the morning, if I dwell by the farthest oceans, even there your hand will guide me and your strength will support me.”

We have had the incredible blessing and privilege to be at this school. We have learned, grown, loved and been loved. So as we go on from here, I encourage you to take these lessons and values that you have learned and contributed to. Set high standards. Be the example. Show the love. Be the friend. And allow God to work in you and be a part of your life.

Thanks to Classmates

Class of 2019, I am very grateful to be part of our class and I am honoured to represent you here today. Thank you for making these last 1, 2 and 3 years the best years of my life and impacting me beyond description. Thank you and God bless.

A huge THANK YOU to everyone who donated to our "Fix the Boys' Dorm" GoFundMe campaign in 2019. The NALC youth conference that was held at LCBI was a huge success. Over sixty kids and their chaperones (photo above) had a chance to enjoy our beautiful campus during their stay. We hope some of them will become Bisons in the future!

A parent volunteer chaperone sent this report of the Alpine Trip (photo below) in September:

I have had the privilege of chaperoning the LCBI alpine trip this year. What a wonderful bunch of kids. The future is in good hands!!

We stopped at Horseshoe Canyon near Drumheller then stayed in Canmore and yesterday hiked – six km each direction – from Lake Louise to the 6 Glacier tea house. We spent a bit of time in Banff in the evening and enjoyed a night-time soak in the upper hot springs. This morning we will stroll through Canmore and attend church at St. Michael's Anglican Church. I'm a bit sore but very happy!

Thank you so much to Kari Alford and LCBI for making this possible.

LCBI is a grade 9 – 12 high school, free for Saskatchewan students. If you know anyone who would like to attend, I recommend it!
